UpCare Partners with IRegained to Bring Revolutionary Stroke Rehabilitation Technology to Canada

[Toronto, ON - May 15, 2025] - UpCare Partners & Associates Inc., a leading Canadian distributor of innovative medical technologies specializing in neuroscience, is proud to announce its new distribution partnership with Sudbury-based IRegained Inc. for the MyHand® rehabilitation system.

This agreement marks a significant advancement in stroke and neurological rehabilitation options available to Canadian healthcare providers. The MyHand system provides personalized hand function therapy for patients recovering from stroke, traumatic brain injury, and other neurological conditions.

"We are truly excited to partner with IRegained to make this groundbreaking technology available across Canada," said Olivier Poitier, CEO of UpCare. "The MyHand System perfectly complements our neuroscience portfolio and aligns with our mission to deliver comprehensive neurological care solutions that improve patient outcomes."

Vineet Johnson, CEO of IRegained Inc., added: "This partnership with UpCare ensures that Canadian healthcare providers will have access to our best-in-class rehabilitation solution, helping more patients regain independence and improve their quality of life."

The MyHand system has already shown promising results in clinical settings and recently received FDA clearance for the U.S. market. This Canadian distribution agreement represents an important step in making the technology widely available to rehabilitation centers across the country.
